Farming At Lac La Biche

LAC LA BICHE—Lac la Biche has long been noted for its fishing, and for many fine mink ranches, but lately it is coming into its own as a farming centre. With more elevators and grain handling facilities it could easily expand north to Wandering River. Rural electrification and telephone lines would make farm life more attractive and do away with some of the so-called farm drudgery.

Some of the wide awake young farmers of the district are making good use of the advice of their District Agriculturist, P. Maron, who is trained in methods of weed control, crop rotation, animal care and general farm management. The recent opening of this office in Lac la Biche is an important boost to agriculture here.

In the last year 16,000 workers in Canada's textile industries have been discharged and most of the remaining 90,000 are on short

Willie Hamilton Is Nominated Liberal Candidate By Acclamation

LAC LA BICHE—Willie Hamilton, Lac la Biche business man and fur farmer, veteran of the RCAF, was named Liberal candidate for the provincial constituency of Lac la Biche by acclamation at a convention held in the Memorial hall in Lac la Biche Monday, July 14. Mr. Hamilton was nominated by J. Wolstenholme. Immediately the delegates who crowded the hall and represented every part of the constituency set up a cry of, "We want Willie."

Others nominated were H. C. Reynolds and Mr. Corse of Grassland. Mr. Corse moved that Mr. Hamilton be accorded an acclamation. This was greeted with prolonged applause.

Guest speaker was J. Harper Prowse, Liberal leader for Alberta. Mr. Prowse displayed a series of pamphlets prepared by the department of economic affairs and printed by the Queen's printer. They gave the government story on questions which are at issue in this election.

"This is election propaganda prepared by a government agency, printed by the government printer, and paid for by the taxpayers of Alberta. When a government gets so sure of themselves, they think they can get away with this sort of thing, it is time they were slapped to their senses," Mr. Prowse declared.

Outlining the Liberal program, he stated that they proposed to lighten the load on municipal taxpayers. "We will double the grants for local roads, give interest-free loans to completely underwrite school and hospital construction, and increase educational grants so they equal 50 per cent of the overall cost," he said.

He also outlined the Liberal plan for providing rural electrification without requiring any cash payment by the farmer. "We are prepared to take the power right into the farmer's yard. When he begins to use the power he will pay monthly bills the same as town and city people. That is all. We can do it now. And at rates the farmer can afford to pay," Mr. Prowse stated.

On gas export, Mr. Prowse said that "the Liberal party would not consider this until they were satisfied that there was sufficient gas to ensure Albertans were fully protected as to price and supply. Then when we are satisfied we have obtained all the industrial development we can by keeping it here, we will ask you by plebiscite if you are then in favor of export," he said.

Weeds Must Go!

LAC LA BICHE—Mr. J. Zayezski, weed inspector from Boyle, called on Mr. Maron recently. They were discussing the control of weeds with the use of the new wonder chemical 2,4-d. There are three spraying machines available and farmers are advised to make good use of them.

Most of the broad leaved annuals can be completely killed by the spray method at low cost. As new, clean land is brought under cultivation more valuable seed crops can be raised.

Early planting of registered seed, field crop inspection and membership in the local Seed Growers' Association are all steps along the way to successful farming at Lac la Biche.

More Local News Next Week

We regret that we have not been able to publish in this week's issue of the paper all the local news we have received. This, however, is being set and will be run instead in next week's paper.

Two Candidates Selected For Athabasca Seat

Two candidates have so far been selected to contest the Athabasca constituency in the provincial general election August 5.

The candidates are Antonio Aloisio for the Social Credit party, and Sam Nowkowsky, an Independent Farmer.

The Liberals and CCF are expected to nominate candidates shortly.

Mr. Aloisio won the SC nomination after a deadlock nominating convention had recorded a tie vote for him and J. E. Appleby, of Athabasca. Mr. Aloisio, a 54-year-old Perryvale farmer, won the nod by a 69-62 vote at a second meeting.

Mr. Nowkowsky will be strictly an independent candidate. When his nomination was first announced, it was thought that a new farmer's party was entering the provincial political scene, but such appears not to be the case.

Plamondon Man Returning Officer

Mr. Elmer Plamondon, of Plamondon, has been appointed returning officer for the Lac la Biche riding in the forthcoming provincial election. Enumeration is now going on throughout the constituency, and locations of polls will be announced shortly. Mr. Plamondon will be assisted by several clerks on election day.

The world would be happier if men had the same capacity to be silent that they have to speak.

Alexander of Boyle, were returned for another term.

Many Organizations Active In Town

LAC LA BICHE—Lac La Biche is filled with public-spirited people, a fact shown by the number of organizations in town. Interviews with presidents, secretaries, or other officers in the various groups, brought out many facts of interest to everyone.

Mrs. Procter reported that the Women's Institute has had an interesting year, with one of the largest memberships in Alberta. Their work includes raising money for all medical improvement purposes, such as drives for cancer, the blind, and so on. There are several Hobby Clubs, and in these the ladies learned leather tooling, glove-making, crocheting, and tatting.

In times of fire or flood, this group also provides emergency help for needy families. There is a W.I. Jr., in which the girls get instruction in needle-work too. Meetings are held monthly in the big school.

During the winter, weekly meetings were held to study Civil Defence. Mr. Jack Williams took his last course at Edmonton last February, and he reported that the organization started with about ten interested citizens, and the class has completed about fifty per cent of their basic leadership-training course. Due to the arrival of spring the class has been temporarily discontinued. It is hoped that a Civil Defence organization will presently be set up, that will meet the needs of the district.

The local constable, C. H. Calvert, who is also fire chief, recently attended an additional fire-fighting course in Edmonton, to enable him to take a more active part in Civil Defence work.

Dr. Brinsmead, a former Army Medical Officer in the field, has been approached regarding first aid courses in this community. Mr. Oscar Tremblay, who took the training course at Olds last November, and Mr. Jack Williams are in charge of Civil Defence training at Lac La Biche.

Mrs. Bouvier was interviewed for the Ladies of St. Catherine. This group was formed five years ago, with about ten members. Since then membership has grown to 65.

Church and welfare work is undertaken, and needy families are cared for. Weekly hospital visits are made, and every patient receives a treat.

The crocheting and knitting club for young girls has been very successful. A plan is under way to provide more reading material for hospital patients. Meetings are held monthly in the homes.

The Trail Rangers, fourteen boys aged 1 to 14, have had an active season, with Chief Ranger Roy Tkachuk, under the direction of Rev. Doug Greenough. During the winter they did knot tying, and earned badges for the various skills. The plan is four point: skills, leadership, devotional and woodcraft. Summer projects include more outdoor recreation. Some of the boys will attend Long Island Camp, near Westlock. They meet Thursdays at 4 p.m. at the United Church.

The Young People's Society is a recent organization under Mr. Greenough's direction. Advance publicity says the young people are looking forward to presenting a play in the fall. An all-day outing is planned for Tuesday, June 17. Warren Williams is president. Mr. Weeres, secretary of the town board reports that among other things the council approved that application be made to the board of public utilities that a portion of riverlot 62, owned by Mr. T. W. Pue, be annexed to the town.

Arrangements are being made with the Legion for the use of several of their vacant lots to ease the present parking situation, during water installation.

At a recent meeting of the board of health, the main business concerned the excessive amount of garbage in the back alleys, ditches and even on private property. Fly season is here, and from a health standpoint this is a menace. A drive is underway, which it is hoped, will meet with the approval of every home-owner in Lac La Biche, to have all garbage removed and all unsightly corners cleaned up, and make this a healthful and beautiful town.

Last year under Commanding Officer Father J. E. McGrane, four sea cadets, Jackie Wolstenholme, Wilfred Woychuk, Harold Klein and Romeo Lebeuf were in the news. Two of the boys are Catholic and two Protestant. The group represented five nationalities, living in Canada, English, Irish, Ukrainian, German and French. They sailed across England by canal in a thirty-foot home-made sloop, "The Exeter." The voyage took them from Liverpool to the Thames, and then to France, where they visited Paris and the battlefields of Dieppe. At present, Father McGrane is stationed at H.M.C.S. Naden, Esquimalt, B.C., doing a tour of duty. He is expected to be away about three weeks, and the boys are wondering what plans he will have for the members of Canada's farthest north Sea Cadets Corps at Lac La Biche, when he returns.

Fr. J. McGrane is Commanding Officer and Lieut. Wolstenholme D.C.M. is Executive Officer.

Other organizations in Lac La Biche include the Board of Trade, I/O's Club, Legion, Ladies Aid, C. Y. O., Students Union, Girls Softball Jr. and Sr. Clubs, and the Red Cross. So taken altogether Lac La Biche is a very busy place. Mr. Lynn G. Hall, mayor of Lac La Biche, who is also superintendent of schools here, is attending and if not checked at once will deplete both yield and grades of seed. The thing to use is D.D.T. spray. If used after sunset and before sunrise it will not harm the bees, which work only in the bright sunshine.

A new business came to Lac La Biche recently, when Mrs. Pearl Shukaliak opened the "Wee Bairns" store. Mothers will find this a pleasant place to shop for small tots.

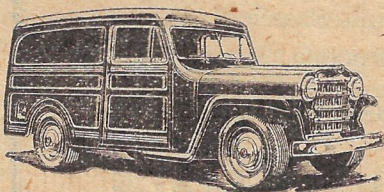

A survey is going on at Square Lake under Dr. Miller of the University of Alberta, on whitefish and tullibee. There is a form of cyst which appears in different stages in various fish. The life cycle of this menace to fish is under observation. Ronald Johnson works under Dr. Miller and he has set up a camp there for the summer.

Tactful

"I've decided on a name for baby," said the young mother. "I shall call her Euphrosyne."

The husband did not care for the selection but he was tactful.

"Splendid," he said, cheerfully. "The first girl I ever loved was called Euphrosyne."

There was a brief silence. Then: "We'll call her Elizabeth after my mother," the wife said sternly.

Substitute

An actress thought she had an excellent plan for keeping her diamond necklace safe. She always left it on her dressing-table with a note: "This is only an imitation. The real necklace is kept at the bank."

But one night she found it gone and in its place this note: "This necklace will do, thanks. I'm only a substitute myself. The burglar who looks after this territory is away on vacation."

Swimming at the beach with my sister, we both decided to dive and swim under water. While coming up for air I reached out and grabbed—what I thought was—my sister's hand. Reaching the surface, I suddenly released my grip, however, when I found myself face to face, and holding hands with a strange man;

LILIANE R. CURIAL.

RR No. 2 St. Albert.

While walking down the street I saw a man whom I thought was my boy friend. So when I had caught up with him I said "Move over Big Boy. I'm walking with you from here on."

To my surprise it wasn't my boy friend at all. I said "I'm sorry," and turned and walked away feeling very much embarrassed.

Farm Accidents

The tragic toll from farm accidents is steadily mounting. Late in June three more Albertans were killed in tractor accidents.

Mrs. Clement G. Adam, a 22-year-old farmer's wife from just east of Edmonton, was killed in a tractor accident last month. It was reported that the young farm wife was standing on the tractor beside her husband, leaning on the fender, when a brace suddenly gave way and the fender turned forward, throwing her in front of the rear wheel.

Two-year-old Harry Balaban of the Viking district was accidentally run over by his father's tractor. In still another fatal mishap, Andrew Melnyk, a 25-year-old farmer from the Weasel Creek district, was killed when his tractor apparently went out of control on a slippery piece of road and overturned into the ditch, crushing him beneath.

Alex Crook, aged 50, of the Pincher Creek district, was killed last month in a tractor accident on his farm. Apparently he was driving his tractor near the edge of an embankment when the ground gave way and the tractor overturned, crushing him beneath.

A newspaper clipping file of the Alberta Wheat Pool indicates that overturning tractors have claimed the lives of at least five Alberta farmers this spring and have seriously injured several others.

This should impress upon farm people the need of taking greater care when working with the farm tractor. Remember, it is a dangerous implement.

Perhaps a change in the design of farm tractors is necessary. But, if so, it will be some time before such changes become effective. Meanwhile, the rule should be utmost care and "safety first."

The New Liner And War

More important than the fact that the new 990-foot liner, the United States, is capable of record-setting in crossing various bodies of water including the Atlantic Ocean, are the military characteristics of the vessel. Designed in close consultation with the United States Navy, the liner can be converted almost overnight to a troop transport capable of carrying 15,000 troops.

Among the features resulting from military considerations are reinforced decks to support possible gun emplacements, dual engine rooms so that the ship can operate even if a torpedo destroys one, more water tight compartments than found in other large passenger ships, and a beam dimension that will permit passage through the Panama Canal.

Churchill Finally Ages

Winston Churchill, Conservative Prime Minister of Great Britain, is finally giving in a trifle to old age. As a result of mounting criticism in London and elsewhere, the British Prime Minister has agreed to allow his Foreign Secretary, Anthony Eden, to play a larger role in Britain's home government.

Labor criticism of the indecisiveness of Mr. Churchill had mounted in recent months to the point where prominent newspapers were openly asking him to delegate some of his responsibilities to subordinates or resign. As usual, under fire, Mr. Churchill has made no comment.

It is significant, however, that Anthony Eden is assuming a larger part of Mr. Churchill's responsibilities as Prime Minister. It is generally believed that Mr. Churchill prefers Eden as the next party leader of the Conservative Party. Eden's increased duties indicate that Mr. Churchill is not unaware of the criticism of himself, nor the threat of several younger members of the Conservative Party to take over the No. 2 spot from Mr. Eden.

Hoof-Mouth Epidemic

Squelched

The animal health branch of the federal government has done a remarkable job in eradicating hoof-and-mouth disease from Canadian cattle. There has been no new case reported from Saskatchewan for nearly eight weeks and the authorities have good reason to believe that the threat to livestock in this country has been ended. The parliamentary committee investigating the outbreak has praised federal veterinarians for their handling of a serious situation. As usual, Liberal members formed a majority of that committee. Some opposition members are calling its report a "whitewash." But the facts scarcely justify this charge.

All parties agree that federal officials acted promptly, thoroughly and skilfully from the moment the dread disease was identified last February. Laxness was charged because the first cases near Regina late in November were diagnosed as stomatitis, and their true nature was not discovered until three months later. The chief federal veterinarian was also criticized because, in February, he countermanded orders of his assistant in Saskatchewan to fly specimens of the virus to Hull, Que., for analysis at the federal laboratory there.

Except for circumstances that were brought out before the parliamentary committee, both these lapses might have proved serious. In the event, they did not. Even though stomatitis is a comparatively mild cattle disease, strict precautions by way of quarantine and otherwise were taken as soon as the first cases were discovered. This prevented uncontrolled spread of the infection which was, due to protective measures, limited to certain well-defined areas in Saskatchewan and at no time passed beyond the boundaries of the province. Telegraphic instructions not to rush specimens to Hull did no harm because, by the time the wire reached Saskatchewan, the samples were already on their way by air. They were promptly analyzed as hoof-and-mouth disease.

The loss to Canadian livestock farmers because of the five-month epidemic will run into staggering figures that can scarcely be estimated. The killing of hundreds of animals in Saskatchewan, the value of which will be partially made up by federal compensation, is only a small part of it. The major blow to the livestock industry was dealt by the U.S. embargo against Canadian cattle at a time when exports to that country were running at the highest figure in years. It is hoped this ban may be lifted in September, by which time it will have been in effect for six months.

To city consumers the obvious result of the outbreak has been much cheaper meat prices which have helped to lower the cost-of-living index. But had the epidemic not been quickly conquered, the purchasing power of Canadian farmers would have been so reduced that business generally would have suffered. It is a matter for congratulation for all Canadians that, while the hoof-and-mouth disease still is rampant in Europe, it has been eradicated in Canada through a two-month campaign which earned officials international commendation.

English Hens Can't Count

(From the Calgary Albertan)

An Englishman says his hen has laid 360 eggs in 156 days. A Canadian poultry expert says it can't be done.

We'll go along with the Canadian.

We believe the reports that a British jet plane flew from London to South Africa in less than a day, and that a U.S. bomber flew around the world without stopping.

We believe that some of these modern prefabricated houses can be built in an hour.

There is no doubt in the world that engineers can divert rivers and move mountains.

But no hen in the world has ever laid more than an egg a day for very many days, and no hen ever will.

It might have seemed like 360 to her.

Vindicated By Events Is George

By Bruce Hutchison

in Vancouver News-Herald
"WOT I want to know," said my neighbor, Mrs. Noggins, "is whether we are inflated or deflated."

"Well, at least George Drew knows. Why, says George, didn't I tell you as late as last Christmas that the country was inflated, that the country was inflated to death and prices going through the roof because the Government wouldn't stop 'em? Well, you see, says George, prices is goin' down and Canada is ruined, just like I predicted. I told you the problem was inflation and now deflation is wreckin' the country and confirmin' everything I said."

"Yes sir, George 'as bin vindicated by events. Yesterday 'e was callin' fer price ceilings and today 'e's callin' fer price floors. After the record you can see 'e's the man to be trusted."

"Well, the way I understand it, we've got too much beef and pork and one thing and another so we've got to eat more of it to keep the country balanced. And to make sure we eat more the Government keeps the price up to encourage us to buy and consume. That's wot they call the price system and it's workin' somethink beautiful."

"All prices under the new system of heconomics is sacred. They musn't be changed on no account, up or down. Wot the price system needs is stability, with a touch of rigor mortis, and the country will only be 'ealthy when it's lyin' 'orizontal, frozen stiff, and covered with a Do Not Disturb sign."

"And if world prices is changin' 'tis no matter, ours must be left alone in deep-freeze, safe from the madness of 'umanity. But I must say it'll be lonesome and a trifle chilly when the world 'as passed us by and finally we begin to thaw out under the 'arsh sun of reality after our long twilight sleep."

"Oh, well, after ridin' on a boom all these years, after sailin' through the sky on a nice soft white cloud, 'tisn't easy to get down to earth."

"These things don't worry me. After a diet of cavier I can do quite nicely on beef and bacon if I 'ave to, and I'd buy 'em, too, if I could only afford the price. But I know 'tis unreasonable and unpatriotic to ask for lower prices, for of course they'll ruin the national economy jest like high prices was ruinin' it yesterday. A nation, some fella once said, can stand a lot of ruin. No doubt. But 'ow much heconomics can it stand? That's wot worries me."

Voice of the People

DOESN'T BLAME TEENERS

I was burned up to read that recent Voice letter terming all our teen-age delinquents and recommending that 16-year-old boys be put in the Army and young girls in institutions. I am the mother of two teen-agers of whom I am proud. Crime and prostitution didn't start in this generation; that has been going on since before grandfather's time. Don't blame the children; blame the parents who don't do their job. Remember that the school-age children of today will be our Presidents, Congressmen and good citizens of tomorrow.

MRS. R. I.

IS THERE A WESLEY IN ALBERTA?

I think Mr. Editor that you have answered your own question in the outstanding editorial of June 4, and you deserve the thanks of every citizen in Alberta for the courageous manner in which you set forth the truth that our Lord commanded should be proclaimed, just before He ascended into Heaven.

The Christian should thank you for making use of such a wonderful opportunity to bring the light of the Gospel to the attention of those who are in darkness, seeing it is just about impossible to get them to attend a Gospel meeting.

The members of most of the old denominations should thank you, as so many of them are travelling the road that seemeth right unto them, but the end of that road is death.

The pleasure seeking, worldly minded people should thank you, for the warning and for showing them God's only way of escape from the torments of the damned which await all those who refuse to accept the sacrifice Christ made for them on the cross at Calvary. And the dead were judged of those things which were written in the books according to their works, and whosoever was not found, written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire. Rev. 20: 15.

Now Mr. Pue you may not have John Wesley's horse, but you have placed the crucified Son of God squarely before the people of Alberta. To all Christians the call goes forth—Let us pray.

OPPOSES GAS EXPORT

I agree with Liberal Leader Mr. Frowse's opposition to export of Alberta gas. Commenting on the fact that, after exporting for 25 years, Montana has now run out of gas, he comments: "Alberta has good reason to know it. Having accepted an American plea, on the grounds of defence need, it is now exporting gas for use of the gigantic Anaconda Mining Company. It would be interesting to know who is benefitting from this curious arrangement, but that is not the important point, after the event."

I beg to differ; it is a very important point, because, whilst it is too late to ban that particular export, it is not too late to expose the circumstances under which the permit was granted; even the editorial insinuates that there is a snake in the grass somewhere.

The facts, as I recall them, are as follows. The pipe was already in the ground before the permit was granted, an indication that export was a sure thing. No time was wasted appealing to the Board of Transport Commissioners or kindred bodies. The export request was made by the American defence czar, Mr. Wilson, to our cabinet minister Hon. C. D. Howe, who relayed it to Premier Manning, and the permit was granted.

The American Federal Power Commission now had the final say. The U.S. coal interests disputed the need for Alberta gas, and in the hearing that followed, it was not defence need that was emphasized, but the merits of coal, oil, and gas as sources of cheap power. Gas was the cheapest. The U.S. Federal Power Commission then authorized Alberta gas for Montana, which in my opinion was not necessary for the defence effort.

Why Destroy All Natural Enemies Of Mice?

Some of the newspapers predict a plague of field mice. Nobody has come up with a plan for paying farm boys NOT to trap the weasel, which can follow a mouse right into his home, and is therefore his worst enemy. The few dollars a boy gets for weasel pelts can be lost many times over in mouse damage in the grain fields. Kill the coyote campaigns are gaining in momentum and the coyote is another natural check to mice plagues. Soon someone will have to think of a plan for mouse control, or the country will surely face a heavy loss from these small marauders.

Do the sparrows bother your peas? If so, try tripping them this way:

Tie some ordinary black thread on each side of the row of peas. The sparrows do not see the thread, but fall over it as they go to get a bite of the peas. They soon fly off in disgust.

Try this on the strawberry patch also.

Twelve junior officers of the Pakistan Civil Service are spending a month in Alberta studying the relationships between the provincial government and Alberta municipalities.

The group, which arrived at Edmonton July 4, consisted of the following: S. Azam Ali, Mohammed Majid Ali, S. Mohammed Naseem and Iqbal Masud, of Karachi; Abid Husain, Saeed Ahmad and Mahmood Ahmad Soofi of Lahore; Rafiq Inayat, Gujrat; S. Mohammed Qasim Rizvi of Jhang Maghiana; Ejaz Ahmed Naik, of Sialkot, Province of Punjab; Aslam Abdullah Khan, of Peshawar, Northwest Frontier; and Iftikhar Ahmed Khan, of Bengal.

Five of the group have served for two years in Pakistan as assistant commissioners or assistant collectors while the other seven are university graduates who have entered the civil service by competitive examination.

The Pakistan civil servants are touring Alberta as part of a five-months study of Canada provided through the Colombo Plan for the economic development of South and Southeast Asia.

While in Alberta, they will live with typical Alberta families, inspect irrigation and view Alberta's industrial expansion.

Plan To Safeguard Vital Statistics In Event Of War Or Disaster

The vital statistics of the province—records of births, deaths and marriages—presently stored in an Edmonton safety vault are to be duplicated and stored in another, as yet unannounced, part of Alberta, so as to be safe from bombings and other disasters. Dr. A. Somerville, assistant deputy minister of health, told headquarters recently.

"At the present time our government has decided to turn over a sum of money for duplicating our records which are at present all in one safety vault in the centre of the town in an inflammable building. A properly placed bomb would wipe out our entire records. Now we have money to duplicate these records on micro-film so they can be distributed to distant points and so they can be retained," Dr. Somerville said.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

Our daughter is going to college next year and we have discussed how her finances should be managed. She would like for us to give her a certain amount each month and let her manage her own bookkeeping, but her father is inclined to pay her bills as they come.

What plan do you consider the better?

MOTHER.

Answer:

I think it makes a child more responsible and careful to decide what they need and let them manage it themselves. Of course, if she spends it all and wants more when it gives out, the plan is not good.

The course you decide upon depends on the child but she will usually live up to what is expected of her by her parents if they are fair and firm in their dealings with her.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa,

My husband has a good business and we have one son. All of our lives we have looked forward to his taking over the business when he grows up.

However our son, who is eighteen, announced last week that he wishes to be a doctor and nothing we can say will make him change his mind. My husband is heartbroken. What can we do to change our boy?

Mother.

Answer:

Encourage him to be as good a doctor as possible and help him all you can. There is no greater mistake for a father to make than to try to live his life all over again through his son.

Remember that every child is an individual, who has his own desires and ambitions. One who is frustrated by being made to do the job he dislikes, will never be happy or successful.

Louisa.

U.S. Beef Invasion

United States beef cattle won't be coming to Canada for very long, thinks The Financial Post. The reason for the appearance can be explained very briefly. Prices are higher in Canada than in the United States.

Normally the flow is very much in the other direction. Last year, we exported the equivalent of 375,000 head of beef cattle to the United States. It is generally expected that we should do about the same this year, and we need such volume to keep the domestic market firm.

In theory there is no reason why beef cattle and beef should not flow back and forth across the border. Duties, freight rates and other costs are similar both ways. Some farm products where costs and tariffs are similar flow back and forth depending upon domestic supply and prices. Field seeds is a good example.

Normally, however, Canada is such a surplus producer of beef cattle and beef, that the flow would be all in one direction. But in the last few weeks several temporary factors seem to have developed which all work on the same side.

INTEREST IN RELIGIOUS BOOKS AND LITERATURE INCREASING

BOSTON, Mass.—Right now publishers are issuing more books on religion than on any other non-fiction subjects. Newspaper syndicates are expanding their religious features because of increasing public interest. Sales of the Bible have doubled in five years and are now at an all-time peak. Two top executives in the public relations and advertising fields brought out these facts in speeches here today.

Two top executives in the public relations and advertising fields brought out these facts in speeches recently.

Arthur Hall, Circulation Director of the Chicago Daily News, reported, "A significant change in reading habits is under way right now. There is a tremendous public interest in books and articles on religion."

He addressed members of the worldwide circulation sales staff of The Christian Science Monitor, who met in connection with the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Langley Carleton Keyes, Boston advertising executive and readability expert, cited reasons for the growing popular interest in religion.

"Corruption, chaos, and confusion are turning many people back to Jesus' simple teaching," Keyes told an audience of more than 1500. "Men want something better than complex philosophies and confused living."

"They want religion. They want it in language they can understand. They want it in the way Jesus taught it. More than anything else, they want practical proof of God's power with men."

Emphasizing "the simple might of divine ideas," Keyes said that the "intellectualism of the few is not the answer. All men become thinkers when they are reached where they are by the clear expression of the truth about God and man," Dr. Keyes is a Ph.D. in philology.

The popular interest in religious features in newspapers was graphically illustrated by Hall. In 1949 the Chicago Daily News published the life story of Jesus. This brought a tremendous circulation response.

"No articles published in recent years created so many new readers," Hall said. The articles appeared on page 1 with a news headline describing each day's installment.

The Daily News also found a series entitled "What My Religion Means To Me" to be definitely successful, Hall continued. It was written by local lay members of various denominations. Various other newspapers, including the Detroit Free Press and the Miami (Fla.) Herald, have also published such series with good results.

Hall told how the Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal has just started a 10-year series of articles. The subject: a few verses of the Bible each day.

In the past year distribution of Bibles by The Christian Science Publishing Society has reached an all-time peak. John H. Hoagland, Manager, reported this fact to an audience of nearly 7500 at the main Annual Meeting of The Mother Church on June 2.

Wife Of Alberta Cabinet Minister Active In Parliamentary Women's Work

OTTAWA — Mrs. George Prudham, wife of Alberta's minister in the Dominion Cabinet, is an active worker in an association of Ottawa women whose husbands are members of Parliament.

The ladies have the reputation of being hard, consistent workers at the knitting and sewing projects they undertake. And Mrs. Prudham is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of this group which helps to dispel the loneliness of women who find themselves far from home, with a husband who works, often, 16 hours a day on committees, parliamentary and party work in the nations' capital.

Recently the M.P.'s wives put on a display of work done by the group during the spring and winter months.

Afghans squared in warm reds, yellows and browns, were hung on the wall, and piled neatly in rows were baby's knitted hats, coats and booties, at a display of work by the knitting group of the Parliamentary Women's Association.

The display held in the ladies lounge at the Parliament Buildings, revealed the results of many months of clicking knitting needles, and needles worked through cloth.

Two complete baby's layettes including diapers, sheets and clothing will be sent to the Canadian Save the Children Fund while the warm afghans will be distributed to military hospitals across the country.

Each Wednesday since March members of the group have met to combine their efforts in aiding the hospitals and the fund. The association is headed by Mrs. W. M. Benidickson.

Receiving guests during the afternoon was the general convener, Mrs. W. G. Weir. Conveners representing all groups of the association were: Mrs. Victor Quelch, Mrs. George Prudham, Mrs. J. J. Smith, Mrs. R. R. Knight, Mrs. C. E. Johnston, Mrs. F. H. Larson, Mrs. W. D. Wylie, and Mrs. J. L. MacDougall.

Christmas Display Shown At Lac La Biche

LAC LA BICHE—Shaben and Hamdon of Edmonton have opened a wholesale display room in Lac la Biche, for Christmas booking. An inquiry about the newest and most interesting novelty produced a beautiful top, which plays organ music as it spins.

This company goes only to the more progressive districts. The display was here for three days before proceeding to Camrose.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

If You Approve Of These Progressive Policies

YOU SHOULD

Vote Liberal On AUGUST 5th

As Liberal candidate for the constituency of Lac la Biche, I am pledged to support the Program of Progress laid down by Provincial Leader Harper Prowse. If, as a resident of this constituency, and as a taxpayer, you approve of these progressive measures, I ask you to work and vote for my election.

● Municipal Taxation—

A Liberal government would lighten the municipal tax burden by making a full financial partnership with the municipalities. We would share not only the revenues but the responsibilities too.

● A Better Deal For Education—

Hard pressed school boards would benefit with long-term interest-free loans for school construction. A Liberal administration will provide for equal educational opportunities for all rural school children, with the Province paying 50% of school expenses.

● Adequate Health Program—

A worth-while province-wide hospitalization program will be substituted for the present inadequate "dollar-a-day" hospitalization plan which invariably costs more than $1.00 per day. With free hospitalization for old age pensioners, the dread of ill-health will not plague the lives of our senior citizens.

● Protection Of Our Heritage—

The Liberal party will keep Alberta's natural resources for Albertans. Dissipation and waste of our oil and gas reserves will be prevented, consumers in the province will be protected on the price and supply of natural gas. More new industries will be encouraged to come here and make use of Alberta's natural resources in Alberta. There will be no export of natural gas until and unless approved by the people themselves in a plebiscite.

● A New Deal For Alberta Farmers—

Mr. Prowse has consistently stated that a royalty of at least 2½% should be paid to holders of surface rights wherever oil is found, and cash settlement should be made in case of property damage in the search for oil. Immediate start will be made on electrification of 75% to 85% of all Alberta farms with large rural electrification co-ops given interest free loans to expedite the electrification of Alberta farms.

● A Sound Road Building Program—

During the past four years Albertans have heard countless promises of roads to come. A Liberal government will substitute action for promises of good roads that never materialize under Social Credit. Twice as much as in the past will be contributed to the building of municipal roads.

● Public Business Will Be Made Public—

Liberals believe in keeping the people, the taxpayers, informed on how their government is operating. A Liberal administration under J. Harper Prowse will not keep the public ignorant of what is going on.

VOTE FOR PROGRESS — VOTE LIBERAL on AUGUST 5th
